"Clive of India" Darryl F. Zanuck's 20th Century production for 1935, comes to the Monarch Theatre May 20, 21, 22 & 23 with Ronald Colman starred in the title role.

Richard Boleslawski was borrowed from M-G-M to direct this powerful drama, which W. B. Lindsay and P.J. Minsky came all the way from England to Hollywood to adapt for the screen from their stage hit of the same name which ran over a year in London.

The story, which traces the rise of Robert Clive from a 22 year clerk in the East India Company to the conqueror of a nation, stresses the private life of England's greatest hero and the part his lovely wife played in his triumphs and defeats.

Loretta Young is cast as the wife.

Don't read the School Paper. This year was held on whether to enter a play in the Alberta Dramatic Festival, next year. The pupils agreed to send one. The school item was the semi-final of the oratorical competition.

President of Jubilee Submits Full Report

To The Citizens of Redcliff

Fellow Citizens:

Greetings! On placing before you the complete financial statement of the Central Committee for the Jubilee Celebrations, I feel that our figures are frightfully inadequate and so append this short note to all of you.

Firstly then, may I pass on to you the words of the chairman of the Finance Committee who said, "It has not been a task to collect funds for our Local Celebration but a pleasure and I have never yet had to ask funds and receive such a response — in fact many of our subscriptions before our machinery was ready to receive this." This is indeed a tribute to the spirit of co-operation and loyalty which has been shown throughout the celebrations.

Again, many subscribers names do not appear on the statement of accounts for example our local Pottery through Mr. Wyatt, supplied every child attending school a mug free and defrayed the cost of the Redcliff "Review" supplied readers and advertisements without charge. A Local Church, supplied the rubber stamps used by the Pottery to imprint the mugs. Summing up the many donations both above and those too numerous to mention received.

Kind, from the bottom of my heart I thank you for the splendid effort made and the results which were best seen and realized on the smiling faces of our happy youngsters. What better thanks can anyone utter than the face of a happy child?

Finally may I thank all those ladies and Gentlemen of the Central and other Committees who gave of their time and labors to make Redcliff Celebrate a success and pray that the same spirit of co-operation, may prevail amongst our citizens in all things.

Two other Celebrations we may look forward to yet before our Jubilee tasks are ended. First, a sum of money has been set aside for a Permanent Jubilee memorial and last but by no means least, we have unanimously decided to present a suitably engraved silver cup to the Redcliff Jubilee baby Master George Edward McKinnon who was born in the Town of Redcliff at 2 o'clock in the morning of His Majesty's Silver Jubilee.

Master McKinnon when you are old enough to read this, no matter where you are, may you always remember you were Redcliff's Jubilee Baby! God bless you Sonny! May your life be full of happiness and joy days long and worthy.

The Eighty dollars surplus from the financial drive is to be expended as follows:—

To the Local School festival for the Redcliff Band for the Permanent Jubilee memorial, and the Local Swimming Pool, each $150.00; to the Local Red Cross and the Jubilee Cancer Fund each $100.00. Another funds which become property of the Central Committee through such medical balances returned, will be handed over to the Swimming Pool.

The Committee has now discharged any matters being the business of that committee will be dealt with by the undersigned who is, in this, and at all times, at your service.

God Bless Our King and Queen; Long May they reign; Happy and Glorious

For the Committee, Very Sincerely Yours, H.S. Hammett.

Rev. Hammett Inducted By Bishop Knowles

Bishop Elect Preaches a Most Inspiring Sermon

The Venerable E.H. Knowles, D.D.L.H., the Bishop-Elect of the Diocese of Qu'Appelle paid an Official Visit to Redcliff on Sunday last being the first anniversary of the Rev. Hammett's appointment to the parish.

Holy Communion was celebrated at eight a.m. by the Bishop-Elect and at 11 a.m. Choral Vespers was celebrated by the Bishop-Elect. In the evening, in spite of inclement weather and muddy streets, the Church was filled with worshippers. Evensong was conducted by the Vicar and the induction by the Bishop-Elect was most inspiring. The sermon was preached by the Bishop-Elect from the text of St. John Ch. 15 v. 16, "Ye have not chosen me, I have chosen you." The Priesthood of the Laity and their duty to the Church as the source in authority was the theme.

After Service, a short reception was given by the ladies of the Church in honor of the Bishop-Elect, in the Parish hall when all present were presented to the distinguished visitor.

The Archdeacon was the guest of Mrs. G. Worts during the week-end.

Our readers may be interested to know that the consecration of the new Bishop will take place (D.V.) in St. Paul's Church Regina, on June 24th, this being the 51st anniversary of the consecration of the first Bishop of Qu'Appelle in Lambeth Palace London, England. His grace the Most Reverend M.M. Harding D.D. Lord Archbishop of Rupertland is being the Consecrating Bishop assisted by their Lordships the Bishops of Brandon, Saskatoon and Edmonton (Formerly Archbishop Burge).

C. G. Hoogveld was a business visitor in Calgary last week-end.

200 Beauties Bejewel "Gay Screen" Scandale

Two hundred breath-taking beauties, picked of the country's nobility, personally selected in America's masterly showman appear in George White's 1935 "Scandale," which will come May 24th to the Monarch Theatre.

Lyrics and Melodies are the work of Jack Yellen, Joseph Mass, Herb Magidson and Cliff Sienki, who are song-writers responsible for many hits.

They wrote the lyrics and tunes of the six songs, featured in the coming "Scandale": "Is An Old Southern Custom," "I Didn't Know (You'd Get That Way)," "I Was Born To Love," and "I Got Home You Got Shoes."

Beauty and Drama In Dietrich Movie

A master of the craft has been at work, and now at the Monarch Theatre where Paramount's "The Devil Is a Woman" is unfolding its movie story against a background of Spanish grandeur and intensity you can see a motion picture should really be like.

With Miss Dietrich acting the role of a heartless, enchantress, "The Devil Is a Woman" tells a complex, true-to-life story of men and women and their loves, with amazing vigor and simplicity.

The background of the tale is a Spanish fiesta, a riot of color and music. Its protagonists are the enchantress and her lovers, Lina and Attila, the middle-aged man who has given everything for her soul-daring young lady, Cesar Romero as the ardent young Latin.

Indian Did Not Forget

Sends Gift To Lawyer Who Saved Him From Jail

Sixteen months ago a Nanaimo jury acquitted Andrew Moses, a charge of attempted murder, a charge laid after an Indian from the west coast of Vancouver Island, who had allegedly slain Andrew's first wife, was established through the heart and saved from death by a young Victoria surgeon.

For two days the jury listened to how Andrew had followed his pretty 18-year-old wife who had been married according to Indian custom.

When he found her there was a fight and Charlie Sam was stabbed in the heart. Sam's life was in doubt for more than a month but he was covered eventually and Moses went on trial.

When the jury returned its verdict Chief Mose, Andrew's father, broke a two-day court room silence. "I don't forget you," he said to R. L. Mattison, K.C., his lawyer's counsel. "I don't forget you save Andrew's life. Andrew's good boy. You won't forget me."

Recently Mr. Mattison received two eight-foot intricately carved totem poles. What each figure and symbol denotes he will probably never fully know, but whenever he looks at them he will know that the old chief did not forget.

BROKE HER LEG AGAINST A STAIR

Whist Hampered by Rheumatism

"Two years ago," writes a woman, "I was suffering with rheumatism in my legs and when walking I was one day just kicked my right foot against the stairs, and broke my leg just below the knee. I was in hospital for four months, and when I came out someone told me to try Kruschen Balm. I did so, and now I am no longer disabled. I would not be without my daily dose of Kruschen, which I take every morning—half a teaspoonful in warm water."—Mrs. P. H.

Bank Of Canada

Will Pay Its First Dividend To Shareholders Next July

When the Bank of Canada pays its first dividend next July the amount going to each shareholder will be paid up the 15th of July. The instalment was paid, it was learned at Ottawa.

Applications for shares were received to send their orders for $12.50 for each share requested, representing one-quarter of the cost per share. Dividends will be paid, therefore, on $12.50 per share from September 1, 1934, to January 2, 1935, and on the full purchase price of the shares from January 2 to the date of declaration, probably July 2.

The actual rate of dividend will be known until it is declared by the board of directors, but under section 31 of the Bank of Canada Act it cannot exceed 4 1/2 per cent, a year, cumulative. "Any excess profits over the maximum dividend requirements go to the rest fund and the consolidated reserve fund of Canada."

Want Branch Lines

Plan Is Made For Completion Of Two Branch Lines In Northern Alberta

A plan for completion of two branch lines of the Canadian National Railways in northern Saskatchewan is being made by the railway's standing committee on railways by C. R. McIntosh (Lb. North Battleford). Mr. McIntosh was supported in his request by G. D. Davies (Athabasca).

At present a branch line runs north from North Battleford, back to St. Walburg, a distance of 90 miles, but the remaining 100 miles to Beaver River Crossing is unfinished. This line was projected originally to join North Battleford with Edmonton. Mr. McIntosh urged the road be completed, and estimated the cost to be not more than $250,000.

The other line was from North Battleford to Edmonton, via Spruce Lake.

A heavy crying for an hour was enough potential energy to climb to the top of the Washington Monument.

Idea Netted Personal Fortune

Sir Guy Standing Made Money Selling Old Guy Equipment

If it had not been for the Great War, Sir Guy Standing might not have been able to take up acting as a hobby.

He is well known for the excellence of his paintings and his adventures in the British navy, for which he was knighted by the king. But he said that when the king's sword descended on his shoulder, he had but $40 in his pocket.

Sir Guy, after the war, observed miles of United States tanks, tractors, automobiles and other equipment lined along the Rhine. He formed the Motor Organization, Ltd., and set out to buy this equipment and sell it to Europe, which was trying to rehabilitate itself.

When the transaction was completed, Sir Guy, the director of the company, had a large amount of leftover war material it would have to get rid of. But competition would ruin his company, so he managed to buy the equipment as well. It took nine years for the company to sell and clear its books, but the result was a large personal fortune for him.

"A fortune," he explained, "which permitted me to take acting my favorite hobby."

"But you can be sure of one thing: I'm through with big business. It costs too many gray hairs."

Sir Guy is 60 and one of Hollywood's popular characters.

Drinking And Driving

Danish Professors Conclude That Drinking And Driving Don't Mix

Drinking and driving don't mix, well concluded two Danish professors, who recently tested the reactions of a group of drivers who had been given the alcoholic equivalent of three nice highballs. Tested by apparatus designed especially to note mental and physical reactions, it was found that the highball group was 17 per cent slower to react than those persons who had gone thirsty.

Consumption of alcohol, showed the experiments, adversely affected the speed of a driver in applying the foot brake and the strength of his grip on the steering wheel.

Marine Food

Ray Harvested Contains All Of The Important Vitamins

Down to the sea for seaweed will be man's next step in his quest for food. Professor E. Tilden, University of Minnesota, has been a leader of a scientific expedition to Japan, Australia and New Zealand, to collect marine algae, said at Minneapolis.

"Marine algae," said Prof. Tilden, "are sources of all four of the essential vitamins, A, B, C and D."

Saw It All Right

Elizabeth Harwood, Cleveland, visited a seeress. She was told "your husband will come back when he's tired of a blond" and "your husband is having trouble with the police." "Yes, sir," the fortune teller continued. "I see iron bars and blue bars." Elizabeth Harwood, an unmarried policeman, took the seeress to jail.

Little Journeys In Science

THE SPECTROSCOPE

(By Gordon H. Quast, M.A.)

Scientists have shown that the earth and every star which can be observed by the telescope, including the most distant, are composed of the same substances. Of course the proportions are different, but the substances are not.

A glass prism in the hands of the great scientist Sir Isaac Newton in 1672 commenced the train of thought that led to this discovery. Newton observed that the prism split up ordinary sunlight into the various colors of which it is composed. The prism was the beginning of a very powerful instrument of science, namely the spectroscope, which was developed almost a hundred years later. It is this instrument that tells us not only all the sun and planets are composed of the same materials in different proportions.

The spectroscope sees more than our eyes could see in use. Man can only observe those substances that give off vibrations to which our eyes are sensitive. The spectroscope is sensitive to all vibrations, and hence sends out vibrations, and hence sends out vibrations. We cannot see colors so plainly that it can tell from another. This is because every solid substance and every kind of gas sends out vibrations, and hence sends out vibrations of its own. Science has determined the relative vibration of the various acids and gases of which the earth is composed. When the same vibrations come from the same materials and same scientists know that they are composed of the same materials that are in the earth.

Research Council

Work Carried On By This Body Is Worth Millions To The Farmer

With their work estimated at "tens of millions of dollars" in value to farmers, associate committees of the National Research Council ended their seventh annual convention held at Winnipeg.

Dr. H. M. Torry, president of the council, declared in his Winnipeg address that the group had as much of Canada's future in its hands as any other body of Canadian citizens. The work was worth millions to farmers, he declared.

Harwood was said to Dr. O. R. Anderson, University of Alberta, who will shortly join the staff of the University of Wisconsin. Regretting Dr. Anderson's departure, the council members extended him best wishes in his new work. Tribute to Dr. Torry's work was voiced by Dr. W. C. Murray, president of the University of Saskatchewan.

Sub-committees were re-established and their chairman named.

Motor Car Industry

Demand For Cars In United States Puts Industry In High Gear

The No. 3 industrial concern of the United States, the motor car industry, is in high gear. In half-hour trucks, in freight cars and in delivery trucks the industry is moving from factory to dealer and on to consumer in heavier volume than at any time since the last five years.

Gaining momentum steadily under the impetus of a swelling consumer demand, the industry has sold more than 1,213,000 passenger cars and trucks since Jan. 1. During 16 weeks of 1933, the industry produced as many units as were manufactured in all of 1932. Output for that year, lowest point in the depression, was 1,431,494 cars and trucks.

Does Not Want Freedom

Rev. Dr. Stenlund, for a constant companion on his motor trip about the Wind River Indian reservation in Wyoming a domesticated wild bird named "Cattle Rock, Chickadee" after it had broken a wing. It soon became a "household" bird, although free to leave at any time, returned to its cage each night.

Builders And Wreckers

Gloating through a little trade magazine the other day the writer came across a short but very cutting "Wreckers" which, in these days of times, is worthy of wide circulation. He reproduces it:

I watched them tearing a building down,
 A gang of men in a busy town.
 With a he-ho-he and a hoo-yi-yi,
 They swung a beam and the side wall fell.

I asked the foreman, "Are these men stilled,
 And the men you'll hire if you had to build?"
 He gave a laugh and said, "No, indeed!"
 But common labor is all I need.

I can easily wreck in a day or two
 What builders have taken a year to do.

I thought to myself as I went my way,
 Which of these men have I tried to pay?
 Am I a builder who works with care,
 Measuring life by the rule and square?

Am I shaping my deeds to a well-made plan,
 Patiently doing the best I can?
 Or am I a wrecker, who walks the town,
 Content with the labor of tearing down?

All over this world of ours there are men and women earnestly striving to build—people in governments, in churches, in education, in finance, in industry, in business; statesmen around the League of Nations conference table, sitting in international conferences, or engaged in diplomatic negotiations. They are trying to build anew out of the wreckage and upheaval of political, economic and social conditions thrown into chaos by the Great War and its latter aftermath. They are striving to save civilization, and make it a finer thing than anything hitherto known.

But because the times are temporarily out of joint, weaknesses have developed in the economic system, social evils have become multiplied; in a word, because abnormal conditions exist and many people are in difficulties, the "wreckers" have become bold and walk the town blatantly engaged in the manner of all tasks—that of tearing down. Men and women who never constructed anything, who lack both the ability and the incentive to construct, are busying themselves in criticizing the efforts of the builders, impeding sincerely motives to them, seeking to wreck anything and everything of a constructive nature that is attempted.

Even the best and most patient of people are inclined to be critical and become fault-finders. In fact, how often are people now heard to speak in praise of anything, of any institution, or of any effort that is being put forth? Rather, is it not the general attitude of dissent and attack?

The popular thing to-day seems to be to destroy, to wreck. In some countries they are deliberately trying to destroy religion and so to revert to the dark ages; in these and other countries the attempt is being made to deprive people of liberties won through the suffering and bloodshed of past generations. The wreckers would in a day tear down the constructive work of centuries.

There are those, of course, who still hold fast to the faith that is in them; who still believe in liberty as the sacred right of the individual citizen, who hold true to democratic forms of government and trust in the people and hatred of dictatorial autocracies.

Builder or wrecker—which are you? Which class has brought mankind to its present civilization? Which class lived mankind from the cave-man stage? Which group has developed modern medicine, which is responsible for modern medicine, which built our transportation and communication systems, our modern towns and cities, which brought into being the higher standard of life in this twentieth century? And who are not the wreckers who precipitated the Great War and are responsible for the whole train of evils which have followed.

The builders are still building in the face of enormous difficulties and the opposition of the wreckers; the builders are striving to save civilization while the wreckers would destroy through revolution and bloodshed in order that out of civilization's crash they may reap godlike benefits. Of each of us may well take stock of ourselves, study our present habits of thinking, examine their actions, and ask ourselves in brief, "Am I a builder of our lives and we whether we are builders, 'patiently doing the best we can' or merely wreckers 'content with the labor of tearing down'."

Have Had Busy Year

British Department Of Scientific Research Covers Wide Field
From ships to fruit jellies is rather a far stretch, but it is a stretch easily covered by the British Department of Scientific Research, as proven in the annual report of that body, just issued.

It is impossible, of course, to do more than touch upon the activities of the research experts during the past year, except to say that they have dealt with such far-apart media as steel, coal and ships, and marshmallows, apples, fruit jellies and rolled waffles.

The department which deals with the woollen industry has developed a new process for producing unshrinkable wool, yarns, and fabric capable to withstand the rigors of laundering, which is being exploited under mill conditions. It is hoped to have materials available for the public early this year.

New fabrics especially suitable for motor car upholstery have been made from wool and rubber latex. A considerable advance has been made in the protection of clothing etc. against moths and mildew. Some of the results are applicable not only in practice, but also to the household. The protection of furs under storage conditions has also been accomplished.

Advances in the direction of improved methods of food storage have been another noteworthy feature of the year's work.

A new method of cooling ships' holds, which offers economies in space and equipment and is suitable for wide ranges of cargoes, has been devised, and is being adopted in some of the new tonnage under construction for the Australasian trade.

Another piece of research which will be good news to parents of small boys has resulted in a recommendation of steps to manufacturers to prevent, to a considerable extent, tinned sweets being reduced to a sticky mass by the absorption of moisture.

And if the preceding does not show variety—well, what does?

Helps Men And Boys

Y.M.C.A. Aims To Fit Men For Leadership And Service

A committee endeavoring to redress the aims and objects of the Y.M.C.A. and worked out the following tentative definition:

"The Y.M.C.A. helps men and boys to achieve mental, spiritual and physical goals."

"Its central purpose is the extension of the Kingdom of God through worthwhile activities touching every area of life."

"From it go out into the world, men fitted to assume their share of responsibility, having learned the art of leadership and of service."

Prof. Watson Kirkconnell, when asked to suggest the form of a definition, submitted the following:

"For God and man, we labor to study
Body and mind and soul through fellowship."

To join as friends in study,
prayer, and games,
And raise up leaders in the Master's name."

Electric Good Is Efficient

More Humane For Animals Than Old Style Whip

Old-fashioned whips for driving horses and cattle may be replaced by an ingenious electric good, which is at once humane and efficient.

Instead of belaboring the animals brutally, the driver, equipped, merely touches the beast with the end of its case. The case is supplied with an electric battery, and a light touch is sufficient to guide the animals in the desired direction. The efficiency of the electric whip is astonishing. The shock, though convincing, is absolutely painless and does not injure the skin or flesh in any way. The current is automatically switched on when the animals are touched, and turned off when the case is raised, so that the use of current is very economical.

The electric good which was exhibited at the Leipzig Fair, complies with the laws for the prevention of cruelty to animals.

Experimenters in Canadian laboratories have resulted in discovery of a method of processing the sap of the sugar maple in such manner that the maple syrup may be extracted in greatly concentrated form.

"Well, it is a method of worrying before you spend instead of afterwards."

BRITISH TROOPS SAMPLE GAS ATTACKS DURING MANOEUVRES

Demonstrations of chemical and anti-gas defence are frequently held at the anti-gas wing of the Royal Army School, Wetherburne, Cheshire, where army instructions are training. Above are men soldiers marching through a chemical smoke screen while in training. Afterwards they will be sent to the various depots and centres through the British Isles to instruct in gas defence.

Lazy Turkeys Are Tender

Exercise Makes Meat Tough Opinion Of Oregon Man

The lazier they are, the better they are.

That is the formula C. C. Deter, farmer in raising thousands of turkeys for eastern markets every year. He sent 2,700 birds to market in two weeks, receiving a fancy price of 25 cents a pound. And this largely because his birds are perhaps the laziest turkeys in Oregon.

Exercise is taboo on the big Molalla turkey ranch. The turkeys roam and eat in clover and are later fattened with wheat and oats and topped off with corn. They only need enough motion to pick up their food.

"The more exercise the tougher the meat," Deter claims. "My turkeys are separated into small lots and never allowed to run. I want them to grow fat and lazy. The lazier they are the more tender the meat."

Sailing Vessel Had Record

Used During War In General West Sea Freighting

The old sailing vessel, William D. Lewis, whose log books contain a thrilling war record, is being converted into a log-float carrier at the shipyard in North Vancouver, B.C.

Built in Glasgow in 1881, she was used during the war in general deep sea freighting. After several voyages she was singled out by a German submarine whose commander ordered the vessel's crew to abandon ship, then opened fire with explosive shells.

The crew landed at Blantyre, Ireland, and learned that ship had survived the German's fire and had been towed into Liverpool. Her lumber cargo had kept her afloat. She was repaired at heavy cost and continued in service.

The Next Treatment

Stern was the glance the corner cast at the quick doctor who had just entered the witness box.

"And when you were called in, he asked, 'What did you give the deceased?'"

"Give him? Well, I gave him penicillin."

"Indeed," sneered the corner. "And I suppose you know that in the man's condition you might just as well have given him the sun's rays."

"Quite so—quite so, sir," said the witness, blandly. "It's a pleasure to meet a man of medical education. That's exactly what I should have given him if he hadn't died!"

Just Decided

A clever lawyer, addressing a class of aspirants for legal honors, sought to impress them with the necessity for carefully weighing the exact meaning of testimony.

"For example," he said, "supposing I told you that three frogs were sitting together on a log, and one decided to jump off, how many frogs do you think would be left on the log?"

"Two," answered the class.

"Wrong," corrected the lawyer.

"The frog I specially referred to only decided to jump off."

Hold Unusual Reception

Celebrities Attend Solene All National Gallery In London

An unusual reception held in London was participated in by the Duke and Duchess of York. It was a solene given in the National Gallery in Trafalgar Square by the trustees to members of the National Art Collections Fund to mark the completion of the artificial lighting of the famous gallery, and was the first evening function ever held there. It lasted until midnight.

The duke and duchess and 3,000 famous men and women followed the duke and duchess to the trustees' room in the redecorated Fortin House unannounced. Sir Philip Sassoon, and Sir Robert Wills, the hosts, shook hands with their guests in turn, while at the entrance an attendant murmured "Keep to the left if you don't want to shake hands, to the right if you do."

Guests were warned not to bring their cars because of the difficulty of parking. . . . There were no refreshments of any kind.

The artificial lighting of the galleries, which has been designed to allow them to remain open later in the winter evenings, and perhaps at night, was voted a success by everyone.

Supports Old Adage

Student Proves That Too Much Food Shortens Life

Support for the old adage, "We dig our graves with our teeth," has been found in experiments by Lester Ingles, graduate student at Brown University. Working under the direction of Prof. A. M. Davis, Mr. Ingles found that rats of the little aquatic animal Daphnia given short supplies of food lived on the average 50 per cent longer than did similar controls kept well fed. Dr. Davis's explanation was that these animals, thus forced into abstinence, burned their life-fire lower, produced and used less energy, and consequently did not "wear out" so soon.—Detroit Saturday Night.

Research conducted at two large American colleges tends to prove that furlive and frogs are deaf to human speech.

What's In The Can

Grade Thoroughly Marked On Goods Sold In Canada

Have you ever opened a can of peas and found it very disappointing? Then they were hard and perhaps not of the size you like best? Yes, this has happened often, but quite unnecessarily.

All fruits and vegetables sold in tin cans in Canada are graded and the grade designation is plainly marked on the label. Fancy quality, choice quality and standard quality are found in retail stores. The lowest grade—second quality—is rarely seen. These grades of quality are enforced by Dominion government inspectors and if products are bought by quantity satisfaction is assured.

"Fancy quality" is as nearly perfect as possible, selected for appearance and care in preparation. It may be used when uniformity of size and colour are considered important. Use it to come from the can, or for special meals.

"Choice quality" is not so perfect in appearance but quite as good in flavour and is packed from tender products. It may be used to advantage where flavour and tenderness are important, but appearance is not so essential.

"Standard quality" lacks uniformity, but is quite as good in food value. It may be used where economy is essential. Fruit of this grade is excellent for puddings, gelatine dishes or from desserts. Vegetables may be used in escalloped dishes, soups, salads and for soups.

Commercially canned foods have been found to be packed from tender products in every grade. If bought by grade and if different grades of each product are kept on hand, the menu may be varied and economical.

The size of can is important. It is always economy to buy the largest size which may be conveniently used. The following table showing common sizes may prove helpful:

The Good Book

Bible Cited Not Have Been Given Better Name

The following article by Edmund J. Kiefer, appeared recently in the Buffalo Courier-Express:

"The Bible is rightly called the Good Book, for it is full of good things that inspire, that help, that cheer, that give understanding and education."

Fools may scorn it but the Lord God wrote it, for He told those who composed it to set down what He had to say, and so they set it down, and so it reads.

There is beauty in the Bible for those who have true beauty, beauty unspeakably lovely and simple, like the rays of the morning sun when the earth is sleeping.

There is hope in the Bible for those who are poor and bewildered and very anxious for some reliable assurance in their distress. Let a man live by it and he need not fear to die by it; for it is a Good Book and in every way, a book of truth.

All its dear promises all its bright prospects, all its kind comforts are reliable and worth believing in; and the Bible is all the stimulating furnace in the written contract and word of God.

Information regarding the production of milk on Canadian farms was collected for the first time in the census of 1911 which covered production in 1910. However, an estimate had been made in 1900 placing the production of that year at 5,585,244,000 pounds. The census figures were 19,808,741,848 pounds (1980), 19,875,280,341 pounds, and (1980) 22,454,232,084 pounds, as to cream since the beginning of the century of 87 per cent.

Latest calculations of scientists show that a rocket ship, to reach the moon and return safely to the earth, would require a load of 20,000 tons of fuel and would weigh not less than 40,000 tons.

Landlady—"You'll have to pay your bill or leave."
Lodger—"That's very nice of you. My last landlady made me do both."

Canned Foods Popular

Fruits And Vegetables Made Available All A Part Of The Year

Development of the canned food industry in Canada in recent years has effected great changes in the relation of foods to seasons. To the consumer it has made fruits and vegetables of many kinds available at all times of the year, not always with all the charm of the freshly gathered products, but with much of their original freshness and flavour. Producers have been provided with an enormously extended market, which has resulted in a large and rapid increase in the volume of fruit and vegetable production. Fresh vegetables for use in the canning industry increased from 157 million pounds in 1912 to 311 million pounds in 1932. Production made a further gain in 1933, being estimated for that year at 342,000 cases compared with 317,000 cases in 1932, and preliminary figures for 1934 place the pack of canned vegetables at approximately 500,000 cases.

Canadian canned fruits and vegetables are enjoying increasing popularity abroad as well as at home. Improved quality of canned foods, which has been under the supervision of the Canadian Government, has been an important factor in increasing the demand for consumption as well as opening the door to expanding foreign markets. Exports of practically all canned fruits and vegetables show increases, and reflect the esteem in which Canadian canned goods are held in world markets. Exports of both fruits and vegetables have increased from a value of $1,704,103 in 1923 to $22,000,954 in 1934.

No Such Official

Title "Prime Minister" Does Not Appear In Canada's Statutes

The House of Commons received a correction from the senate and admitted there is no such official in Canada as a prime minister, legally. When the House passed the bill to set up an Economic Council it provided that the "prime minister" should be chairman.

The senate amended the bill to make it the "first minister" and the House adopted the amendment.

Members in the statutes of Canada is there a reference to a prime minister, although in one or two places a "first minister" is mentioned. George Prentiss, acting leader of the government, cited one instance of the expression "prime minister" being used officially.

It was a proclamation issued for the Confederation Jubilee in 1927 when Mr. Maclellan King was so described. No law officer of the Crown would make such a mistake, said Hon. Ernest Lapointe (Lib.).

Quoted in the Montreal Star. He wondered who had drafted the bill.

Always On The Job

Robot Will Give Time To British "Phone Users"

The time-giving device for the British Telephone Service is quite a neat idea. At "central" there will be a series of talking tin tracks which, when a caller is connected, will give him the time in minutes and seconds after the hour. All very complicated, but not to the subscriber. All he or she will have to do will be dial a pre-arranged series of letters, T-I-M-E has been suggested, and the talking machines will tell out the information wanted in smooth and satisfactory manner. The Post Office found that thousands of people each day were ringing up for the time, hence the decision to put their inventors to work on the above device.

Yet another device in waiting perfection for commercial purposes, whereby recordings are made of telephone conversations so that they can be re-heard if scoundrel narrates

Clock Strikes Thirteen

Was Especially Alarmed For Workers In English Village

In the village of Worsley, near Manchester, in the gateway to the Port of Billingham, there is a clock which strikes thirteen. It has an interesting story.

When the great Duke of Bridgewater was constructing his canal he had great difficulty in inducing his workmen to return punctually at 1 o'clock after the dinner hour. He instituted a clockmaker to alter the clock so that at one it would strike thirteen.

The earth's average temperature for a year is figured to be 57.7 degrees Fahrenheit.
